Famine Faces All Germany

Paris, Aug. 12.—Famine and economic ruin faces Germany at the present moment. Absolutely reliable private information has reached the empire. She is cut off from the entire world and her food supplies are already giving out. No cereals are reaching her, the Russian frontier, being closed and the Berlin authorities are now desperately trying to bring in the standing crops by forcing 100,000 aliens, principally Russians to work in the fields with the women and children.

Under these conditions it is not to be wondered at that the Kaiser's forces are fighting on empty stomachs. Thus the emperor's war madness is already bringing over the whole empire a blasting wave of hunger and distress.

After the general war had broken out Herr Azzas, the Socialist deputy, said in the reichstag:

"The imperial policy is responsible for the torrents of blood now drenching Europe. Those who put this policy into action must take the entire responsibility. We tried to keep peace with France, but we failed and we must fight now to defend our frontiers, but we know who has brought misery on millions of our compatriots."

Aside from her diminishing wheat supply, Germany now has only eggs enough for two days and very few cattle. Prince Liebow, who this week wrote in the Ham-burger Nachrichten, says:

"Even if the entire world were peopled with demons, the German people would defend their place in the sun."

But this warlike spirit and personal sacrifice cannot overcome the despair of the breadless army sent against France, whose troops are splendidly supplied with food.

Heavy Drain on Treasury

Washington, Aug. 14.—Thousands of war claims mounting up in the millions may make a heavy drain on the treasury, if the amendment of which Oscar Underwood, Democratic House leader, is the author, is forced through. Mr. Underwood's amendment is the first instance in fifty years where the barrier of loyalty to the government, which has always been the basis of all war claims, is absolutely shattered.

So far as the Democratic leader's amendment is concerned, the flood gates are thrown open for the filing of hundreds of thousands of Confederate war claims. If the Democratic leader's policy is approved, it may mean the payment of millions of dollars to the South. And it looks as though it might be, since Democrats, south and north, followed Mr. Underwood in his break over the loyalty bars like sheep.

Republican Leader Mann fought valiantly against the establishment of this unusual precedent in the House, but he was swept away by the Democratic current.

The particular claim was that of Antonio Q. Lovell and heirs-in-law of Confederate General Quitman for federal occupation of lands owned by that General. In the crop year of 1865, The United States court of claims rejected the claim because the owners of the land failed to establish their loyalty to the government. The standing committee on war claims likewise rejected it, but the Democratic leader put it through.

Concern has been expressed by those who see the possible drain on the treasury that this precedent may create, lest, immediately after the coming elections, thousands of other such claims may be considered and allowed, regardless of the loyalty or disloyalty of claimants during the war. Minority Leader Mann called attention to this danger, but he was ignored by the Democratic majority.

2,000,000 Ready For the Clash

London, Aug. 12.—The Daily Telegraph in this (Thursday) morning's leading article on the war says:

"This precise official statement is as important as any military news published since the opening of the war is made:

"Of the twenty-six German army corps, the bulk have now been definitely located. The mass of the German troops are concentrated between Liege and Luxemburg.

The frontier on the Russian side is only lightly guarded.

"There is no longer any question of a serious effort against the almost unassailable fortifications along the Franco-German frontier.

Germany's Plan Clear

"The German plan is clear. It is also unalterable. Matters have so far advanced that everything is being staked upon the success of a movement in enormous strength through neutral territories.

"Definite assurances of this gives a priceless advantage to the French and their allies. They know where the main strength of the enemy is massed and its intentions. They even know approximately the numbers and the sort of troops that are being brought up.

"No defense could be asked more than to enjoy this knowledge, which undoubtedly is due in the main to the flying man. There is no longer any doubt then as to the territory in which the two hosts are to meet in the most fearful clash in human history. It will be, roughly, between Metz, the most northerly of the German fortresses facing France and Brussels. A battle is imminent; a battle of a million men, more or less, on each side. Fighting will be up on a front of 100 miles. The battle will be almost certainly many days in progress and the result will be decisive.

Experts Are Presiding

"Scientific soldiers are divided in opinion, but there is high authority for the view that a single battle upon such a scale may practically end the war. The preponderance of military opinion, however, appears to be against that viewpoint. The world is entirely without experience in such warfare. It can only wait and watch.

"A really amazing blow to Germany might not be decisive as between Germany and her western adversaries, but with Russia almost ready to strike a serious defeat in Belgium might well put an end to Germany's hopes."

WARBURG GIVES UP INTERESTS

Declares He Will Devote His Entire Attention to Federal Reserve Board

Washington, Aug. 12.—Paul M. Warburg's testimony before the senate banking committee, made public today, revealed that as a member of the new federal reserve board he will divest himself of every financial interest, although not required by law to do so.

"I am going to leave Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and I am going to leave my Hamburg firm," Mr. Warburg told the committee. "I am going to leave every single corporation with which I am connected. More than that, I am going to leave every educational and philanthropic association with which I have been connected, because I think a man who is on that federal reserve board ought to be like Caesar's wife; he ought to be above suspicion; he ought to be without any entangling alliances."

Mr. Warburg also declared that he intended to dispose of all his interests in railroads, mentioning particularly the Baltimore & Ohio, in which he was a director.

Mr. Warburg told the committee that his chief purpose in becoming a naturalized American citizen in 1911 was to bring about currency reform in this country.

"If you are going to sever your banking connections and break them all off," Senator Reed suggested, "it must be at a tremendous financial sacrifice?"

"A sacrifice, yes," Mr. Warburg replied. "I think it will be a bigger sacrifice than any of these gentlemen around the table has any idea of."

"When President Wilson asked me whether I would take this thing, and put it up to me in a very kind way, and asked whether I was willing to make the sacrifice because he thought that I was the man for it, I felt I had no right to decline and I will be glad to make the sacrifice because I think there is a wonderful opportunity for bringing a great piece of constructive work into successful operation, and it appeals to me to do that."

The present currency law, Mr. Warburg deemed superior to the Aldrich bill in that dealing with the entire country it gives different rates of discount while the Aldrich bill provides a uniform rate of discount. The weakness of the present law, he said, lay in the fact that "the federal reserve board has got to have very large powers in order to overcome the decentralization."

Throughout his examination as to various big financial deals of the last few years, Mr. Warburg refused to discuss the business affairs of his partners or to give judgment upon any of them.

Questioned as to his politics, he said that basically he was a Republican, but that in the last contest he was for Wilson.

UTAHNS TO FILE MEXICAN CLAIMS

Washington Attorney is Here Gathering Data Regarding Losses of Citizens

Salt Lake, Aug. 12.—Claims aggregating $500,000 will be filed by Utahns against the Mexican government for depredations committed against the property of Utah citizens and Utah corporations during the saturnalia of revolutions which has and is taking place in the southern republic. A. E. L. Leckie an attorney of Washington, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday to confer with G. W. Bartch in regard to the filing of the testimony in the cases. These claims will be presented to the state department at Washington with proof that the outrages were committed by soldiers, and the Washington government will take up the matter of payment as soon as a stable form of government has been established in Mexico. The claims in which Mr. Leckie is interested in Utah, New Mexico, Arizona and California total more than $3,000,000.

Mr. Leckie, who is a specialist in international law and practices before the state department at Washington, is enthusiastic over the work which has been done by United States Senator Reed Smoot. He holds up the senior senator from Utah as one of the hardworking members of Congress and as one of the foremost leaders in the Senate.

"In Washington we do not pay much attention to senators and congressmen unless they are so big they attract our attention," said Mr. Leckie. "I only know Senator Smoot by sight and by reputation. He is one of the big leaders on the Republican side of the Senate and has earned a reputation for hard work in that body. It was his delight in working hard that brought to him the envied place of a leader in the United States Senate. I do not pay much attention to what is done in Congress unless it is general legislation. As we do not have voice in the District of Columbia we do not pay much attention to politics. Senator Smoot stands out among the western senators as one of the biggest men who have represented western states."

"The claims on which I am consulting Mr. Bartch have grown out of the destruction of property both by the Maderistas and by the followers of Carranza in the two revolutions. Of course we cannot expect payment of these claims until such time as peace reigns in Mexico and there is a stable form of government. Washington is worried at this time over the attitude of Carranza, and it may be some time before things adjust themselves that we may proceed."

"The international agreements and international law, both of which seem to be lost sight of in the present European mixup, give aliens the right to have their property protected. If the soldiers of either the federal or constitutionalist armies destroyed property of Americans under the present status of things in Mexico, then the owner is entitled to damages. The proofs of damage must be made out and the testimony as to how the destruction of the property took place must be filed with the state department. The greater number of claims which we have are those of farmers. We also have a few corporations."

"It will take some time to work out all of the claims and filed the proofs, but we expect speedy payment when Mexico settles down to peace."

Mr. Leckie will leave this afternoon for California, where he will take further proofs of claims from refugees from Mexico.
